Setting the Standard

BY AC WELLMAN

To Our Friends in Business:

Summer is here and there is so much to talk about. The business climate has created many challenges for all of us. Supply chain volatility is a major concern, and we are managing our inventory of raw materials to ensure that we can continue to deliver top quality products with great service and value. A constant review of our products and processes has allowed us to make continuous improvements and efficiencies without compromising quality.

Our team is always working to maintain the standards that AC Wellman is known for by you, our dealer partners, and your customers.

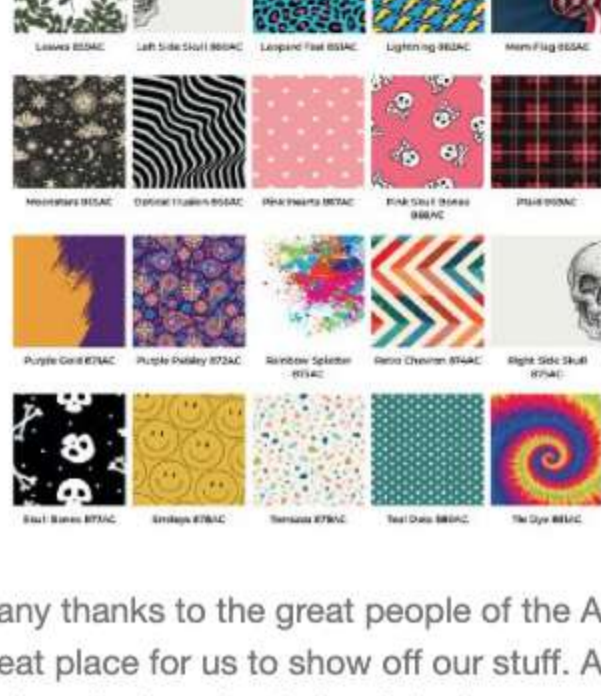

How can we better serve you? Please let us know if there is something we can do to assist you in over delivering to your customers!

ASRT Educational Symposium Exhibit a GREAT SUCCESS!

On June 23 & 24 AC Wellman was an exhibitor at the ASRT education Symposium in Orlando. One of the larger crowds in recent years for its return since pre pandemic 2019. Delegates, students, and educators were in attendance to participate in the various events. The two-day exhibit hall was very well attended, and our products were the hit of the show. As you know, we are a dealer only supplier, so our presence there was to promote our dealer partners and showcase our products.

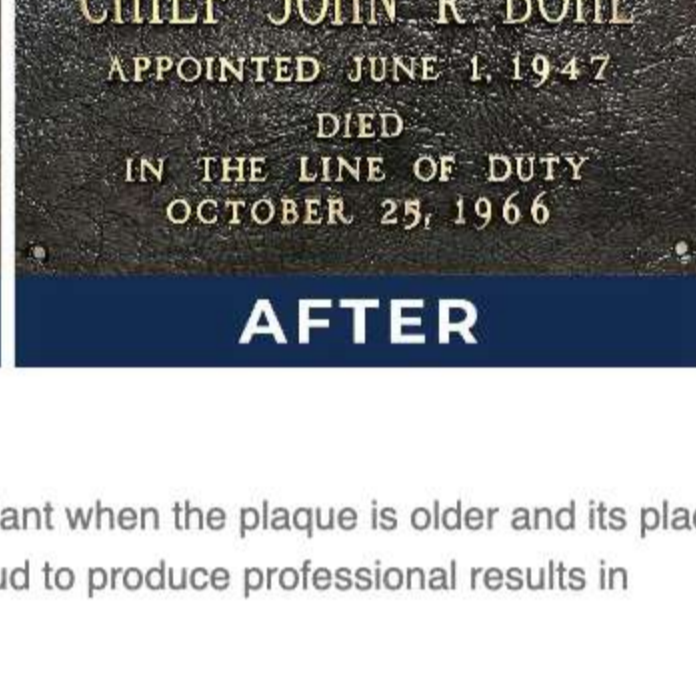

Many thanks to the great people of the ASRT, as usual they were well organized and created a great place for us to show off our stuff. All the color and pattern samples are on our website and easily downloaded or linked to your website. Using creative patterns allows the tech world to self-express. Why not give them choices?

Bronze and Aluminum Plaques

National Historic Registry Markers, Dedication Plaques, and Memorials are just some of the expert design and products we create at AC Wellman. Recently Jeff Mueller, Manager Plaques & Signage, and I visited one of our foundry partners to see what new and innovative products and processes we can offer to you, our valued customers. Creative designs, finishing and restoration combined with expert foundry work enable us to offer best quality and value to our customers.

Recently I had the opportunity to restore a plaque that was used to commemorate the passing of Chief John Bohl of Chardon Ohio. Chief Bohl died in the line of duty in 1966. The city of Chardon is restoring his memorial and we restored the original dedication plaque. The plaque was restored to its original patina finish. Below are the before and after photos.

BEFORE

AFTER

The restoration to its original look is important when the plaque is older and its place in history is significant. AC Wellman is proud to produce professional results in preserving such important mementos.

If you have a special project or restoration, give Jeff or me a call and let us create your lasting tribute.

Tom has been with AC Wellman for 21 years. He joined us after retiring from Huntington Bank working in the vault. He is hardworking, dedicated and a real team player. Tom is an expert spinner and is responsible for many of the letters, numbers, and logos we provide to our customers. In addition to spinning, Tom is responsible for finishing markers, maintenance, and does an expert job landscaping our grounds.

Tom started in the shipping department, but eventually migrated to production spinning letters and casting patterns for our customers. Tom was curious about spinning and it added a new dimension to his experience. Tom has been spinning for 15 years and loves the challenge of producing quality products and is especially proud of the work he does.

In his spare time Tom loves to draw with pencil and listen to jazz music and sing along, especially with his favorite musician, Jazz Pianist Brian Culbertson.

Thanks Tom! We are glad you are part of the AC Wellman Team!

"It has been an experience I will never forget. I never expected to finish my years of work here and I would not change it for anything. At the bank the work involved much more concentration and thoughtfulness, at AC Wellman it is more hands on and requires skills to be a good spinner. I consider the people I work with to be like family, and I have no plans to retire." –Tom Bolden

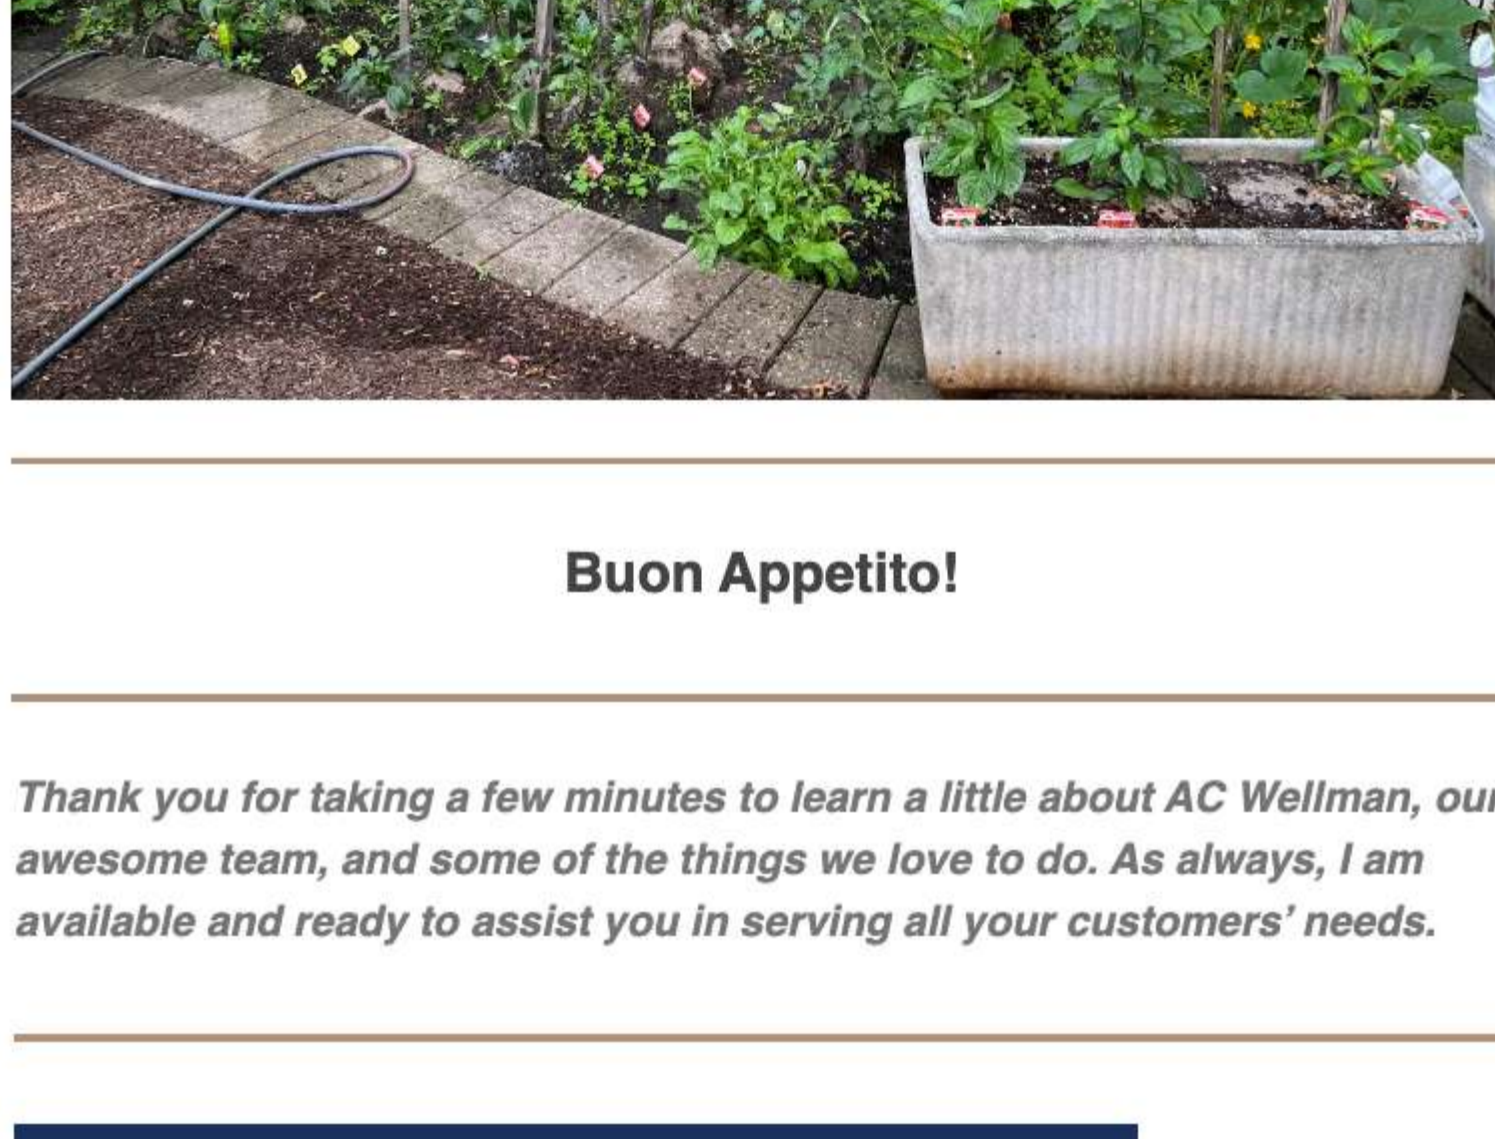

SUMMER GARDENING

Summertime is full of all sorts of great seasonal treats. Fresh produce is optimal and there is nothing like fresh tomato salad. One of my favorite activities during the spring and summer into fall is tending to my garden. The rewards of picking fresh produce from your garden trumps any satisfaction one would get from cutting the grass! I enjoy the evening pruning and tying up the peppers and tomatoes. Relaxing after a hectic day at work and the many rewards at harvest makes vegetable gardening one of my favorite summer activities. If you have your own garden send me a photo, if you don't consider starting one next year with a small patch or container gardening on your patio.

SUMMER FRESH TOMATO SALAD

- 4 Medium Sized Ripe Tomatoes Cut into Bite Sized Chunks
- 3-4 oz Fresh Mozzarella
- 1 Medium Cucumber Peeled and Sliced
- ½ Medium Sweet Onion Sliced
- 2 Cloves Garlic chopped
- 5 Basil Leaves Chopped Large
- 3 oz Extra Virgin Olive Oil
- Sea Salt

Mix tomatoes, mozzarella, cucumber, onion, garlic, and basil in a medium sized bowl, add EVOO and sea salt to taste. Put in refrigerator for 15 minutes. Served with warm crusty ciabatta bread, lots of it! You won't want to waste any of the juice!

Buon Appetito!
